

Sexual Harassment in the Season of Love

Publication

2.01.17

With Valentine's Day around the corner, what better time than now to reflect upon the potency of love, romance, and the corresponding importance of your restaurant's sexual harassment policies. Here, we examine an oft-overlooked type of sexual harassment—third party harassment—and the measures you can take to protect your employees from unwanted sexual advances from guests and other visitors to your restaurant.

To read the full article, please visit WCR.