

From Crisis Comes Opportunity: A Silver Linings Playbook For Businesses Emerging From the Pandemic

Event

5.18.21

12:00 PM — 1:00 PM EDT

It's been said that from crisis comes opportunity. And given that the COVID-19 pandemic has handed us the greatest collective crisis in our lifetimes, it should stand to reason that we should now be in the perfect position to take advantage of the many opportunities that have emerged – if we know where to look. You now have a unique opening to better the lives of your workforce and improve your business operations for years to come by examining some of the positive outcomes that have come from the COVID-19 crisis (with the necessary sensitivity that comes with a deadly and disruptive pandemic, of course).

Beyond the standard “we now realize the value of remote work” and “we can save on commercial real estate costs,” this interactive webinar will review lessons learned in a variety of practice areas and industries – from corporate compliance to workplace safety, and everywhere in between – and provide a practical collection of both silver linings (positive developments that may have come out of the pandemic) and opportunities (strategies for consolidating and leveraging some of these gains for future advantage).
