

Insights, News & Events

SEXUAL HARASSMENT TRAINING: CULTIVATING A CULTURE OF COMPLIANCE

The #metoo phenomenon is a cultural tidal wave and it's only a matter of time before the ripple effects are felt in the everyday workplace outside of Hollywood and Capitol Hill.

Publication
Nov 29, 2017

By: Jennifer Sandberg

Jennifer Sandberg's article "Sexual Harassment Training: Cultivating a Culture of Compliance" was published in Corporate Counsel. Jennifer discusses how important it is for employers to be aggressive in their efforts to avert sexual harassment in the workplace. Jennifer wrote: "Employers that don't want to become the next headline should take immediate action to conduct an audit of their culture, policies and compliance levels surrounding sexual harassment. Are you cultivating a culture of compliance or are you on the brink of a PR and legal disaster?"

To read the entire article, please visit Corporate Counsel (subscription required)

Related People

Jennifer B. Sandberg
Regional Managing Partner
404.240.4152