

NLRB Ruling Provides More Flexibility for Employer Handbook Policies

Publication

12.18.17

Steve Miller, the managing partner of the Chicago office, was quoted in the article “NLRB Ruling Provides More Flexibility for Employer Handbook Policies” on the SHRM website. He weighed in on the NLRB’s decision to return to more employer-friendly standards.

Steve said, the new standard provides a common-sense approach in terms of how to evaluate whether work rules impact employee rights under the NLRA” He noted that it remains to be seen how the standard will be applied to specific circumstances.

To read the full article, visit SHRM.org.

Related People

Steve A. Miller

Partner

312.580.7817

Email