

Is Your Foreign National's Job 'Special' Enough for an H-1B?

Publication

2.02.18

David Jones' article "Is Your Foreign National's Job 'Special' Enough for an H-1B?" was featured in The Business Journals. This article discusses the stricter requirements for H-1B visas and suggests ways companies can increase their approval.

David provides an explanation of what a specialty occupation is under the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), who qualifies, and how to minimize denials. With the right preparation, employers can minimize their chances of having an H-1B denied or even receiving a request for evidence.

To read more, visit The Business Journals.

Related People

David S. Jones
Regional Managing Partner
901.526.0431
Email