Are you feeling worried or frustrated about a hesitant bloc of workers who still have not received any COVID-19 vaccine doses? With the Delta-variant-fueled surge of COVID-19 cases leading to new CDC masking guidance, statewide mandates, and the specter of further restrictions, you may have a renewed interest in seeing the vaccination rate at your workplace climb. But what can you do, legally and practically, to help move that rate higher?

Join Fisher Phillips attorneys for this interesting one-hour webinar where we'll discuss ideas and options to improve workforce vaccination percentages based on the latest information available.
