

Preparation Helps Prevent Workplace Violence

Publication

6.28.18

Writing for Construction News, Art Lambert points out that employers can be held liable for violence at or related to the workplace if it has failed to take steps to prevent or respond appropriately to workplace violence. He explains common employer errors and recommends actions employers should take to protect their employees and their businesses.

To read the full article, visit Construction News.

Related People

Arthur V. Lambert

Partner

214.220.8324

Email