

Attorney Applies New Worker Classification Standard to Healthcare Industry

Publication

7.11.18

Partner David Monks' article, "The New ABCs of Worker Classification in California" was published in the Becker's Hospital Review. This article explains the new three-part "ABC test," a legal standard that determines whether a worker is classified as an employee or independent contractor. David provides an analysis of the standard, and explains how it affects the use of physicians as independent contractors.

To read the full article, visit Becker's Hospital Review.