

Insights, News & Events

OSHA VS. DOT LAWS: WHICH APPLIES TO MY FACILITY AND OPERATIONS?

Publication
Oct 1, 2018

Employers and safety professionals need to know which particular law applies to the specific “working conditions” and hazards in order to be in compliance. In his bylined article for Occupational Health & Safety, Louisville partner Todd Logsdon explains why safety professionals should be aware of the various safety and health laws and government agencies that may impact their business and operations, beyond just OSHA.

To read the article, visit Occupational Health & Safety.

Related People

Todd B. Logsdon

Partner

502.561.3971