

Co-Chairs of Workplace Safety Practice Discuss Newly-Released Emergency Temporary Standard

News

11.04.21

In an interview with McClatchy, Todd Logsdon and Travis Vance discuss OSHA's newly-released Emergency Temporary Standard (ETS) governing employer vaccine and testing requirements. Todd explains that the first 472 pages of the 490-page document lays out OSHA's legal basis for adopting the ETS. Travis adds that a potential legal challenge to the rule could require OSHA to explain how a "grave danger" only affects workplaces with 100 or more employees. Travis also discusses that other potential challenges to the ETS might involve the "major questions doctrine" and the "delegation doctrine."

To read the article visit McClatchy. And the Co-chairs were also featured on the same general topic in the Law Week Colorado article found here and the Commercial Carrier Journal article found here.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Todd B. Logsdon

Partner

502.561.3971

Email

Travis W. Vance
Regional Managing Partner
704.778.4164
Email

Service Focus

Workplace Safety and Catastrophe Management

Trending

COVID-19/Vaccine Resource Center

Related Offices

Louisville

Charlotte