

Louisville Attorney Addresses Opioid Abuse In The Workplace

Publication

2.27.19

Drug-related deaths have reached staggering levels in the past few years, and employers are not immune to effects of this ever-growing problem. In his bylined article for Kentucky SHRM, Paul Goatley educates employers on how to combat the use of drugs or alcohol in the workplace. Paul advises employers to inform their employees on the dangers of drug use; monitor employee behavior for warning signs; review drug testing procedures; and help rehabilitate employees before disciplining or terminating them.
