

Louisville Of Counsel Shares Tips to Prevent Workplace Harassment

Publication

3.06.19

Claims of sexual harassment in the workplace have spiked in recent days. This is, in large part, thanks to movements like #MeToo and Time's Up. In a bylined article for Compliance & Ethics Professional, Louisville Of Counsel Katherine Garbarino tackles workplace sexual harassment during the #MeToo and Time's Up movements. Her article examines what employers can do to avoid becoming the next news headline. In sharing practical tips for employers, Garbarino recommends rechecking company policies and employment policies/employee handbooks, having a plan in place when reports are filed, taking all reports seriously, and keeping a clear record of reports and any interviews.

To read the full article, visit Compliance & Ethics Professional.

Related Offices

Louisville