

The Sea Change in Independent Contractor Law: What It Means for PEOs

News

12.01.19

In an article published by PEO Insider, John Polson details the emergence of independent contractor laws that are popping up across the country. He says the ABC test, which was introduced in California, makes it more difficult to treat a service provider as an independent contractor, which significantly expands liability for independent contractor misclassification. This test, along with others that might be introduced in other states, presents risks to PEOs who use contractors. John continues by providing tips for PEOs to mitigate risk and recommends that all employers keep their eyes on this area of law.
