The Denver Business Journal published an article on Colorado's efforts to pass legislation that would further restrict the use of non-compete agreements. The article cites portions of Mike Greco's testimony before the House Judiciary Committee in which he warns that the bill could have a chilling effect on the career advancement of some lower-level employees. He explained that "[i]f the bill is passed in its present form, it will cause employers to hoard and limit important information to only highly compensated employees, which will hurt employees' ability to advance."
