Event

4.29.22

11:00 AM — 12:00 PM PDT

California workplace safety officials just approved a third round of changes to the state's COVID-19 Emergency Temporary Standard, and while many of them conform to recent guidance that have already been incorporated into current rules, there are 10 significant changes California employers must prepare for. While it may feel that the pandemic is in the rearview mirror, these new ETS provisions – set to take effect on May 6 – will be with us for quite some time, likely through the end of 2022. Join us for this complimentary and interactive webinar, led by our California COVID-19 lawyers, to review the top 10 changes and provide a gameplan for what you should be doing to prepare.
