

Jason Geller Interviews with The San Francisco Chronicle on Bay Area Vaccine Requirements

News

4.25.22

In an interview with The San Francisco Chronicle, Jason Geller, Regional Managing Partner of the firm's San Francisco office, offers his insight into the vaccine requirements inside private businesses in the Bay Area.

While vaccine requirements are changing and vary depending on the venue, your employer, and location, Jason explains that employees should still be prepared to show proof. "Employers can request vaccination status and proof, a written attestation from employees that the vaccination cards are accurate and updated vaccination cards if they appear fraudulent based on objective factors," he notes.
