

Insights, News & Events

CATHARINE MORISSET INTERVIEWS ON WASHINGTON'S NEW NONDISCLOSURE LAW

News
Jul 7, 2022

Washington state recently passed a new law that prohibits employers from using nondisclosure agreements for nearly all employment claims. Catharine Morisset spoke with Bloomberg Law about what employers need to know about this new law.

"The Washington law is beyond what we are used to seeing in response to the #MeToo movement," she explains. "Covering wage and hour claims is novel among state NDA restrictions. The language about public policy mandates is also unusual and it appears to be aimed at the tort claim that's available for wrongful termination under Washington law."

To read the article visit Bloomberg Law (subscription required).

Related People

Catharine Morisset

Partner

206.693.5076

Service Focus

Litigation and Trials

Related Offices

Seattle