

Memphis Managing Partner Expects ICE Raids to Increase, Tells Employers How to Be Ready

Publication

10.07.19

Workplace raids by Immigration and Customs – a priority under the Trump administration – are likely to increase. In a guest column for the Memphis Business Journal, David Jones, managing partner of Fisher Phillips' Memphis office, explains that ICE officials can enter any public area without a warrant and may arrest any undocumented immigrant they encounter. David breaks down the actions employers may and may not take if ICE shows up unannounced at their places of business.

To read the article, visit Memphis Business Journal.

Related People

David S. Jones
Regional Managing Partner
901.526.0431
Email

Service Focus

Immigration

Related Offices

