News

10.13.22

In an interview with Law360, Stephanie Reynolds shares her insight on why she joined Fisher Phillips. She explains why joining the firm's California Litigation and Sports practice were attractive to her, as well as the opportunity to provide her clients with a national platform. "The firm's expansive resources have allowed me to better serve my clients, and I have been able to jump in immediately to help the team on high-stakes cases. I have seen firsthand the firm's commitment to exceptional client service and the dynamic culture and collaboration that was particularly attractive to me."
