Fisher Phillips, one of the country's preeminent labor and employment law firms representing employers, is pleased to announce that Anne Hanson has joined the firm as an associate in the Las Vegas office.

Anne has more than 25 years of professional human resources experience, including holding executive director and vice president level positions with prestigious organizations like Hilton Hotels, Caesars Entertainment, MGM Resorts, and Global Experience Specialists.

At Fisher Phillips, Anne will combine her years of corporate human resources experience with her law degree to provide clients with real life, practical advice on employment and labor relations matters. She will lead human resources departments through a wide variety of legal and compliance training programs and will counsel them on all other aspects of their employment relationships. In addition, Anne will help employers of all sizes prevent workplace disputes by advising them on employee training, handbooks, and policy creation.

"I've crossed paths with Anne in my work on behalf of my gaming and hospitality clients, and during our interactions it was always clear she played a vital role in each organization's development, strategy, and effectiveness," said Mark Ricciardi, Regional Managing Partner of the firm's Las Vegas office. "Her experience handling large companies' most sensitive employment issues will provide a valuable perspective as we are always trying to understand and relate to the inner workings of our clients' human resources departments. We are thrilled to have someone with her level of practical in-house experience on the team!"

Anne earned her law degree from the University of Nevada - Las Vegas where she graduated with highest pro bono honors.
