

Houston Partner Explains How Texas Employers Can Prepare for the Coronavirus

Publication

3.10.20

With confirmed cases of the coronavirus in Texas, employers in the state are wondering what they can do to manage the legal risks that accompany preparedness and containment efforts in the workplace. In an article published by the Texas Bar Journal, partner Teresa Valderrama describes some of the preventative actions employers can take to minimize employee exposure. She goes on to explain important considerations when dealing with employee absences, leave, wage and hour obligations and workplace health and safety.

To read the article visit Texas Bar Journal.

Related People

Teresa Valderrama

Partner

713.292.5616

Email

Related Offices

Dallas

Houston

