Brent Cossrow has been elected Chair of the Board of Directors of the Reading Terminal Market Corporation (RTMC), a not-for-profit corporation that manages the Reading Terminal Market in Philadelphia. Brent previously served as Vice Chair of the RTMC board since 2012, and he explains in an article published by Glenside Local that he looks forward to continuing his work on the RTMC board and supporting the market's mission to serve Philadelphia.

"Reading Terminal is a place people come to spend time, literally break bread, fulfill traditions, and make memories. Our commitment to Philadelphia and the Market's customers is stronger than ever and the Market is playing a vital role as the City continues to reopen and welcome back visitors," said Brent.
