Overview

Chase is an associate in Fisher Phillips' Irvine office. She represents employers in a variety of employment law matters including discrimination, harassment, retaliation and wage and hour litigation. She frequently assists clients in preparing employee handbooks and policies.

Prior to joining Fisher Phillips, Chase interned with the in-house legal team of an international manufacturing company. She also externed for the Honorable Scott C. Clarkson at the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California. Prior to attending law school, Chase worked for a legislative tracking and grassroots advocacy software company in Washington, D.C.

Chase earned her J.D. from Fowler School of Law at Chapman University with an emphasis in Business Law and graduated magna cum laude. During her time at Fowler School of Law, Chase served on the Chapman Law Review and the Executive Alternative Dispute Resolution board. She also served as an academic fellow for Contracts and Federal Income Tax courses.

Chase double majored in East Asian Language and Cultures and Communication at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, graduating with honors.
