

Immigration Co-Chair Discusses What Wave of Tech Layoffs Mean for H-1B Workers

News
1.31.23

In an interview with Bloomberg Law, Davis Bae shares his insights on the impact recent tech layoffs are having on the process of obtaining employment-based visas. And for employers, he explains that it is important to get in front of any potential immigration problems tied to recent layoffs in the tech industry, but he notes that “[w]ith some creative management, companies can work through this just fine.” He also makes clear that while the rolling tech layoffs may throw a wrench in workers’ green card plans, their “immigrant dreams” are certainly not over.

To read the article visit Bloomberg Law (subscription required).

---

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Davis C. Bae
Regional Managing Partner
206.693.5060
Email

Service Focus

Immigration

immigration

Related Offices

Seattle