

Law360 Profiles Vance Knapp's Arrival in Denver

News

4.17.23

In an interview with Law360, Vance Knapp discusses his move to Fisher Phillips as an opportunity to focus and expand his practice nationwide. "I need to be at a firm that is ... laser focused on being the best management-side labor employment firm in the country. And I definitely believe Fisher Phillips is that firm," said Vance.

Vance also discusses his passion for advancing diversity and equity in the legal industry, and he explains how he advises his clients on not only how to navigate state and federal law but also how to keep up with the increasing demand from the public and consumers to see diversity prioritized. "A lot of the time, corporate clients are now insisting their outside counsel be diverse, and I want to be at a firm at the tip of the spear."
