Fisher Phillips, one of the country's preeminent labor and employment law firms, is pleased to announce that Matthew Simpson, Partner in the Atlanta office, has been named to the Leadership Atlanta Class of 2024. The program is one of the nation's oldest and most sustained community leadership programs for business, civic, and community leaders.

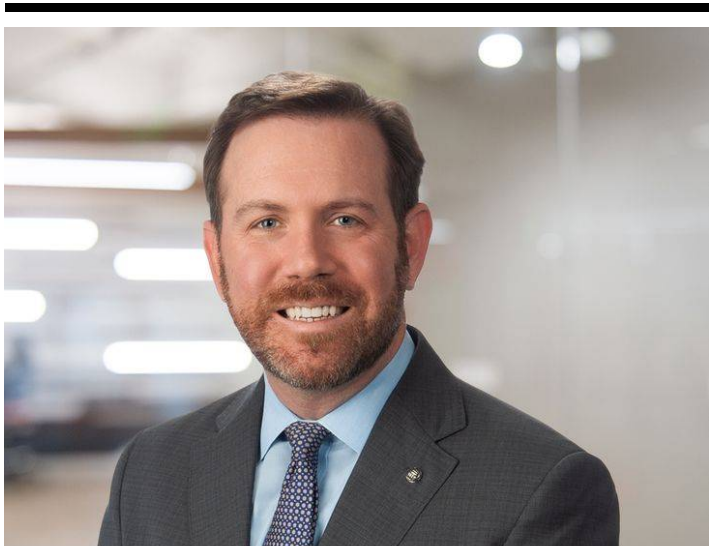

Matt represents management in all areas of labor and employment law in state and federal courts as well as before state and federal agencies, including the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the United States Department of Labor. In addition to his litigation practice, Matt regularly advises and counsels employers and their managers on positive employee relations.

Matt was one of 86 leaders selected for Leadership Atlanta's Class of 2024. During the nine-month program, participants will learn more about the top issues in metro Atlanta through retreats, seminars, service projects, tours, and more, with the goal of helping executives and community leaders work together to promote the growth of the region.
