Event

6.13.23

12:00 PM — 1:00 PM EDT

The education sector is one of the most populous sectors in the U.S. According to research, school diversity, especially ethnic variety among teachers, can help students significantly. However, despite equal educational attainment, the salary gap between men and women is based upon race and ethnicity persists. For our next Money Matters webinar, we will take a closer look at The Equal Pay Law and how educators can benefit from a thorough audit to stay in compliance.

The firm is submitting this webinar for HRCI/SHRM credit for this webinar.
