The United States Department of Labor has released its new proposed regulations increasing the minimum salary level for exempt employees under the FLSA. This webinar covers what is included in the overtime rule and who it will impact the most. We will also provide you with strategies to prepare for impending dramatic changes affecting which employees you can classify as exempt from overtime. You will learn what is included in the proposed rule and when the proposed rule might become final. We will also cover steps you can take now to prepare for the increase in the minimum salary level and other ways you and your company can try to stay ahead of your wage and hour compliance issues.
