

Labor Relations Attorneys Quoted on NLRB's Ruling Focused on Political Activism in the Workplace

News

2.27.24

In an article published by Corporate Counsel, Alex Desrosiers and Joshua Nadreau are quoted on what a recent NLRB ruling regarding political activism in the workplace means for employers and their workplace policies. Specifically, they recommend companies review dress code policies and, if necessary, revise policies to prohibit all forms of political messaging that are unrelated to the workplace.
