

Effectively Handling an OSHA Inspection Under an Enforcement-Driven Administration

Event

3.27.24

12:00 PM — 1:00 PM EDT

$49 per person

Under the current administration, OSHA has become much more aggressive about inspections and rule enforcement. The number of Federal OSHA inspections resulting in penalties in excess of $100,000 has been dramatically increasing over the past several years. This number will continue to grow significantly as a result of OSHA penalty increases. This comprehensive presentation will offer an in-depth, practical examination of the Occupational Safety and Health Act (the “Act”) and how it and the Secretary of Labor’s right to enforce the Act may potentially affect the inspected facility and the company’s business objectives.

This webinar will take attendees through the following:

- The inspection process, including pre-inspection, opening conference, walkaround inspection, document production, employee interviews, closing conference, informal conference, appeals and hearings before the OSH Review Commission.
- Step-by-step discussion of the legal and practical process implicated when OSHA arrives for an inspection, how to define the scope of the inspection, and how to effectively assert your legal rights when OSHA is being unreasonable.
- The essential tips for what every manager should do while the inspection is being conducted and afterward to help achieve the best possible outcome.
- How to assert your legal rights and know their limitation during an inspection and the relationship of OSHA inspections to other regulatory and business responsibilities.

The firm will submit this program for HRCI and SHRM credit.
