Overview

Lauren combines her legal and writing backgrounds to create cutting-edge content for the firm's publications. She writes and edits workplace law articles that help employers navigate this complex and ever-changing landscape.

Lauren previously worked for a global law firm as an associate attorney in the firm's national employee benefits and executive compensation group. Passionate about content, she shifted her career path to work as a freelance writer producing thought leadership pieces for law firms and legal practitioners. Most recently, Lauren served as a content specialist for a California-focused provider of legal research and continuing legal education.

Lauren earned her Juris Doctorate from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law. While in law school, she served as an Executive Editor of the University of Pittsburgh Law Review.
