Event

Apr 24, 2024

Fisher Phillips Denver Office

1125 17th Street, Suite 2400
Denver, CO 80202

$65 per person

Join Fisher Phillips as we update healthcare employers on several demanding labor and employment-related issues, including how to facilitate communication with foreign national employees, best practices that healthcare employers should consider when conducting internal investigations, preparation and use of the investigation report, and recommendations for corrective/remedial action, workplace safety, and more. Recent legislative, regulatory, and litigation changes have compounded these challenges and created new industry obstacles. Meanwhile, the demand for quality healthcare grows. This half-day conference is intended to provide healthcare employers with an overview of key labor and employment issues facing the industry. Topics include immigration issues for healthcare employers; labor and employment law update, including AI issues that employers need to know about; how to conduct an effective internal investigation; and workplace safety issues that affect healthcare employers. Cocktail reception to follow.
