

Boston Partner Discusses Impact of FLSA Ruling on NCAA Athletes One Year Later

News
7.18.25

In an interview with Law360, Josh Nadreau discusses the impact of Johnson v. NCAA, which ruled that Division I student-athletes aren't precluded from bringing claims under the FLSA and established a new multi-factor test for the lower court to use in evaluating student athletes' status.

To read the article visit Law360 (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Joshua D. Nadreau
Regional Managing Partner and Vice Chair, Labor Relations Group
617.722.0044
Email

Service Focus

Labor Relations
Wage and Hour

Industry Focus

Sports

Higher Education

Related Offices

Boston

Portland, ME