

Labor Relations Vice Chair Discusses Loyola Marymount Decision to Withdraw Recognition of Its Faculty Union

News
9.18.25

In an interview with Los Angeles Times, Joshua Nadreau discussed Loyola Marymount University's decision to withdraw recognition of its faculty union after 10 months of negotiations, citing constitutional religious exemptions. Josh said the motivation may not ultimately have weight, since the labor board, even with a Democratic majority, has sided with universities on this issue in recent years.

To read the article visit Los Angeles Times (subscription required). This article was also printed in The Fresno Bee.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Joshua D. Nadreau
Regional Managing Partner and Vice Chair, Labor Relations Group
617.722.0044
Email

Service Focus

Labor Relations

Industry Focus

Higher Education

Related Offices

Boston

Portland, ME