OVERVIEW

Jennifer Fornetti is a strategic litigator and employment law attorney who brings a passion for advocacy and a track record of superior results in complex employment and general civil litigation. With a focus on representing businesses in high-stakes disputes and trial experience on both the plaintiff and defense side, Jennifer defends clients against claims including wrongful termination, discrimination, and harassment. Her extensive experience in state and federal courts has earned her a reputation as a formidable opponent who can distill complex issues into clear, actionable strategies for clients.

Jennifer balances aggressive representation with a client-centered approach, taking the time to understand each client's unique business needs and goals and tailoring her counsel to address their specific challenges. Whether defending against class actions, collective actions, or individual claims, Jennifer is a trusted advisor who provides practical guidance and zealous advocacy every step of the way. Her skillful management of complex discovery, depositions, and trial preparation has enabled her to achieve favorable results for clients in a wide range of industries, including construction, technology, and hospitality.

Before joining Fisher Phillips, Jennifer was a partner in the Las Vegas office of a multi-jurisdictional litigation firm where she focused on matters involving labor and employment, construction, personal injury, and general liability litigation. She also has extensive experience handling complex litigation matters, including breach of contract and tort claims.
