Overview

Ariel Hernández Cisneros advises both national and foreign companies in day-to-day employment matters, with an emphasis on challenges arising from government labor inspections. Ariel provides end-to-end support, from building robust preventative documentary support and responding to inspection notices, to litigating complex administrative claims before Federal courts to overturn economic sanctions. His experience is complemented by proactive counseling, including due diligence for corporate groups, developing workplace policies, and overseeing overall workplace compliance, ensuring clients are well-prepared for both routine and critical employment law challenges.
