Overview

Hannah Bradvica is an associate in the firm's Irvine office where she defends employers in a variety of employment matters, including discrimination, harassment, retaliation, and wage and hour disputes. Hannah also assists employers with the development of employee handbooks, policies, and procedures.

Hannah earned her J.D. from Pepperdine Caruso School of Law, with a Certificate in Dispute Resolution from the Straus Institute for Dispute Resolution. While in law school, Hannah served as Lead Articles Editor of the Pepperdine Law Review, published an article on First Amendment issues for public school employees, and worked as a student law clerk for the Pepperdine Legal Aid Clinic at Union Rescue Mission. Hannah also served as a judicial extern for the Honorable Fred W. Slaughter of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California.

Prior to law school, Hannah earned her B.A. in Political Science and History from Denison University, graduating with honors.
