

DAVID J. CREIGHTON

Associate

New Orleans

504.310.3815

504.529.3850

Service Focus

- Employment Discrimination and Harassment
- Litigation and Trials

OVERVIEW

David Creighton defends and advises employers on a wide range of workplace matters, including discrimination and retaliation claims, hiring and termination procedures, and compliance with federal and state employment laws.

Before joining Fisher Phillips, David worked at a regional law firm, where he represented a diverse client base, including healthcare providers, restaurants, and hospitality businesses, in labor and employment litigation and day-to-day counseling. He also brings valuable perspective from his years as in-house corporate counsel for multi-unit restaurant franchises, where he directly managed employment law compliance, policy development, and workplace investigations, giving him a practical understanding of the challenges employers face. Additionally, David has significant litigation experience in the insurance defense arena that includes defending hundreds of first property damage insurance claims from initial litigation onset through trial and appeals. He also has made successful appearances on behalf of clients before the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Credentials

Education

- Loyola Law School, J.D., 2013
- Louisiana State University, B.A., cum laude, 2010

Bar Admissions

- Louisiana

Court Admissions

- U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana
- U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Louisiana
- U.S. District Court for the Western District of Louisiana

Affiliations

Professional Activities

- American Bar Association
- Covington Bar Association

Community Activities

- Volunteer, Habitat for Humanity