CORPORATE CRIMINAL INVESTIGATIONS AND WHITE-COLLAR DEFENSE

Strategic insight from a team of experienced attorneys – including former federal and state prosecutors – to safeguard your business, minimize risk, and protect your reputation.

When your business or leadership faces high-stakes criminal investigations, enforcement actions, or related litigation, you need immediate, trusted counsel. Fisher Phillips' team of litigators brings years of deep regulatory knowledge, a track record of success at trial, and firsthand experience from the other side of the courtroom.

We navigate complex legal challenges efficiently, allowing you to focus on daily business operations while we handle anticipating issues, investigating, and preventing additional problems. We take being boots-on-the-ground seriously, getting to the source of the situation quickly to get our arms around the facts – and defend appropriately.

Our Capabilities

We represent corporations, executives, boards of directors, and senior employees across the United States and abroad in sensitive regulatory and criminal matters, including:

- Crisis Response: Managing unexpected scenarios swiftly, from multi-site workplace raids at dawn to search warrants, subpoenas, and urgent requests for information.

- Criminal Defense: Investigating and defending against allegations of fraud, regulatory or tax violations, public corruption, financial misconduct, obstruction, or other offenses for which companies themselves – along with individual executives or employees – may be held criminally liable.
- Government & Agency Inquiries: Handling Department of Justice (DOJ) matters, Civil Division inquiries under the False Claims Act, and anti-kickback statutes, and preparing appropriately for grand jury or related proceedings.
- Compliance & Prevention: Developing robust corporate compliance programs and conducting internal investigations to minimize exposure to civil and criminal penalties.
