8.28.11

We are pleased to report that the Fisher Phillips "Wage And Hour Laws" Blog is a Nominee for inclusion in LexisNexis's Top 25 Labor and Employment Law Blogs for 2011.

Our aim is to provide content that is informative to employers, HR professionals, and attorneys, along with commentary and perspective where appropriate. We appreciate your readership and hope that you find our posts to be consistently useful, interesting, and timely. As always, we invite your suggestions for topics and improvements.

If you would be willing to support our selection, please register your comments with LexisNexis here by September 12, 2011. The comment box is at the bottom of the nomination page.

The American Bar Association is also preparing its annual list of the 100 Best Legal Blogs, the "Blawg 100 Amici", and is seeking input here.
