OVERVIEW

discrimination, retaliation, harassment, wage and hour claims, workplace accommodations, and leave issues under federal and state statutes including Title VII, ADA, ADEA, FMLA, and FLSA. Drawing on more than a decade of experience, Steven guides clients through class actions, single-plaintiff lawsuits, mediations, arbitrations, and administrative proceedings.

Steven began his career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel in the Labor & Employment Law Division of the New York City Law Department and later served as an Assistant Attorney General for the State of New York. Before joining Fisher Phillips, he practiced at a New York litigation firm, representing clients in employment and general civil litigation. He also practiced at an international law firm, where he focused on employee benefits and ERISA litigation.

Steven earned a Certificate in Professional Mediation in Employment Law from Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations (The Scheinman Institute on Conflict Resolution).

Steven works remotely and is licensed to practice in New York. You may reach him via email or phone. Please use our New York office for mailing purposes only.
