

Insights, News & Events

JOSHUA NADREAU DISCUSSES STANFORD UNION CASE TEEING UP STUDENT ORGANIZING FOR TRUMP NLRB

News
Sep 30, 2026

In an article published by Bloomberg Law, Joshua Nadreau discussed how a Stanford University union case could give the Trump-era NLRB an opportunity to revisit the Columbia University precedent on student-worker organizing. "These cases ended up being very detailed and that gives the board a lot of space to say that Columbia doesn't govern" the residential workers at Stanford, said Joshua. "That points to the most expeditious way forward for the board."

To read the article visit Bloomberg Law (subscription required).

Related People

Joshua D. Nadreau

Regional Managing Partner
and Vice Chair, Labor
Relations Group

617.722.0044

Service Focus

Labor Relations

Industry Focus

Education

Related Offices

Boston

Portland, ME