

Managing Restrictive Covenants in a Multistate Environment

Insights

4.05.16

Does your company have employees located in multiple jurisdictions across the United States? Are you concerned that your restrictive covenants are not enforceable in all of these jurisdictions? If so, you're not alone. Multistate employers need to consider the dangers of "one-size-fits-all" covenants. The Association of Corporate Counsel's Docket just published a detailed article addressing this very question. Click here to learn how to navigate the analysis required to ensure your covenants will hold up in a multistate environment.
