

How Would This Look in Court? – New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia

Event

10.11.12

Join Fisher Phillips Partner Timothy Scott and other leading professionals across the various industries that have been serving dealerships for generations at Regional Auto Dealers Seminars in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

How Would This Look in Court?

Have you ever pondered how seemingly routine H.R. and legal issues or a manager's comments and actions would play out in court if your company ever got sued? In this session, Tim will show you first-hand how bad communication, and poorly considered decisions and procedures can lead to litigation. This entertaining program will include mock video vignettes to show how an overly confident H.R. professional handles employee problems and then is grilled in a deposition about his decisions. Learn how to anticipate the impact of personnel procedures and employer investigations in litigation. After this session, you will be able to recognize H.R. communication risks and develop effective communication strategies and procedures to reduce potential legal risk

This informative seminar, presented by Fisher Phillips, Compli, Crowe Horwath LLP, Charapp & Weiss LLP, Hudson Cook LLP, and Wells Fargo, will offer attendees a higher-level, inside look into some of the key issues facing retail dealers today.

Who Should Attend: Owners, Dealers, CFOs and top level managers who would benefit from information in the accounting, employment, finance, compliance and legal areas.
