

International Trade Secret, Confidentiality and Restrictive Covenant Issues

Event

8.21.13

This webinar was originally presented in August 2013.

Human Resources professionals and employment lawyers who have employees overseas will want to view this webinar.

Topics covered include: how different countries treat confidential business information and employee restrictive covenants; the impact of that variation on global businesses; and strategies for preparing employment agreements to use with a multi-national workforce.

The speakers highlight key jurisdictions in which many US companies do business and that reflect the variety of approaches to these issues that exist around the world.
