

Who, What, When, Why And How Of Background Checking Policies - New York/New Jersey

Event

11.07.13

Creating a Background Checking Policy that Fits and Meets Regulatory Requirements

You want to screen job candidates to find the best employees and to protect your company, employees, and customers. But with the EEOC and some states taking the position that criminal record and credit checks may have a discriminatory impact on certain minorities, it is time to revisit your background checking policy – or perhaps time to create one.

You are invited to attend an executive networking event, where attorneys from labor and employment law firm Fisher Phillips will walk through the Who, What, When, Why, and How of background checking policies.

Topics covered will include:

- Why background checking policies are important
- How to help ensure your hiring and screening practices are appropriate and consistent with federal and state requirements
- Blanket hiring policies that could put you at risk
- Background checking best practices

Dates and Times:

- Thursday, November 7 – 11:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.

Rosa Mexicano
9 East 18th St.
New York, NY

- Friday, November 8 – 8:30 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.

Courtyard Princeton
3815 US Rt. 1 at Mapleton Rd.
Princeton, NJ

This seminar is free but space is limited. Please RSVP by Nov 4 to reserve your seat.

Click here to RSVP online

Contact Erin DeLucas at erin.delucas@kroll.com if you have any questions.

Related People

Kathleen McLeod Caminiti

Partner and Co-Chair, Wage and Hour Practice Group

908.516.1062

Email