Questions and Networking

2015 is upon us and the New Year is the perfect time to get up-to-date on your internal HR policies and procedures. In this session, we will review important considerations that you should take into account when preparing and updating employee handbooks and personnel policies. Attendees will learn:

1. How to draft and implement the most important and needed policies;
2. Which policies cause the biggest headaches and how to fix them; and

3. How to identify when policies require revision.

Space is limited and attendance will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. Parking is validated.

These programs have been submitted to the HR Certification Institute for review.
