Just the Facts: Conducting Misconduct Investigations in a Unionized Workplace

Fisher Phillips Labor Seminar

Discover the proper techniques and tested procedures to investigate misconduct in a unionized workplace in this day-long seminar with Todd A. Lyon and Clarence Belnavis. Together, Todd and Clarence will sleuth out the best questions for you to ask during a workplace investigation and how to record the answers in your interview notes. You will also discover the proper method to write an investigatory report which both supports any discipline issued and assists in shielding the employer from liability.

HR and Labor Relations professionals will be able to practice their “CSI” skills in a series of hands-on activities resembling real investigations where the names of any real persons have been changed to protect the innocent.

Please RSVP no later than June 24.
