With heightened attention on gender-based workplace discrimination and pay equity, Washington's Legislature has updated and expanded the state's Equal Pay Act, effective June 7, 2018. The expanded Equal Pay Act should prompt Washington employers to review existing policies and practices related to compensation, advancement opportunities, and wage disclosure.

Join Fisher Phillips attorney Thomas Vogliano on May 15 for breakfast to learn best practices for compliance and proactive measures to mitigate against potential claims allowed by the new law. Read more about this update here.
