Event

GoToWebinar

1:00-2:30pm EDT

Many employers with globally mobile and internationally based employees have questions about how to keep productive in the face of varying responses among many jurisdictions around the world, including travel bans, shut-downs and expatriate employee needs. As an increasing number of countries are imposing stay-at-home orders, many companies with foreign workforces are also faced with tough questions about international furloughs, reduction in hours, and work from home policies.

In this webinar, we will discuss these international challenges posed by COVID-19 as well as stimulus and economic rescue packages and special measures adopted by governments in Asia, Europe, and North America to assist employers and employees.
